David & Ninette Cox; Oriskany, VA
King Memorial Community Church

Oriskany is located in southwest Virginia at the base of the Shenandoah Valley surrounded by the Jefferson National Forest. This is an old mining town whose mines closed almost a century ago. Where there used to be almost 2000 people with a railroad line, 3 churches, 5 stores and 3 gas stations there is now one church and one post office.

All the others closed, burned, or were abandoned. We have a few farmers in the area with a number of retired folks. Others drive south over the mountains to work in Roanoke or north to a paper mill in Covington. We tell people that Oriskany is a small place where God is doing big things. It may be off the beaten path, but it is a path worth taking.

In our 28 years here we have been encouraged to see God change lives. David teaches the Bible in four public elementary schools and serves as chaplain and first responder for the fire and rescue squads. Ninette is involved with a community playhouse and the public schools. Pray we will be faithful in our many tasks.

Husbands, love your wives, just as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her to make her holy, cleansing her by the washing with water through the word,
